Abstract:

Tradition and innovation in wine and food culture

An exceptional tutored wine master class led by qualified Italian expert, consultant, wine writer and educator, Walter Filiputti, and with the participation of eight well known producers, to learn more about native and universal vines of Friuli Venezia Giulia.

We take pride in our vast heritage of great and acknowledged quality indigenous varieties: ten different types that have all been included in the appellation production standards as they represent not only a synthesis of wine–territory relationship, which is its main successful feature, but also a definite future resource that the market has already begun to appreciate.

Friuli Venezia Giulia has also built a sound reputation mostly thanks to the excellent results achieved with the best international varieties that have found a good home in this fortunate corner of Italy.
